

SMUCKER COMPANY TAKES ON A NEW JOB. THE AFRICA WATER PROJECT.

Smucker Company has partnered with WorldServe International to provide clean, fresh water for the people living in the Nghambi, Tanzania. The employees and ownership of Smucker Company have donated funds to drill a new well for this community. WorldServe has discovered firsthand that clean water and sanitation is the first step in community and economic development.

We rolled up our sleeves to help dig a well in South Africa.

Nearly 1 billion people still lack access to clean water. In fact, unsafe water is the number one killer in the world today. Furthermore, women and children in rural Africa often spend 6-8 hours each day finding and carrying water for their families and typically only dirty, disease-ridden water is available.

With this new well, we have helped to provide hope for this community in Tanzania. This provision of clean water will keep children from dying from water-borne diseases and enable them to go to school rather than spending their day looking for water. This clean water will improve public health, agriculture, education and the local economy, just to name a few areas. This has proven to be one of our most satisfying projects ever!
